Wagamama is modelled on the ramen bars which have been popular in Japan for many years. The menu consists of side dishes, main meals and desserts your order is taken on an electronic handheld and zapped through to the kitchen by radio signal where it is cooked immediately. They want to ensure the freshness of your food and so your dish will be delivered to your table as soon as it is ready. This means different dishes may be delivered at different times. The aim is don't wait - just tuck in and share. Enjoy the wagamama experience
